

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. INTRODUCTION.

THE BRITISH HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCER, is intended briefly to convey the Annals of our Empire to the end of the Reign of George the Third. Some necessity for its publication may be obvious upon a comparison of the numerous authorities quoted, with the indexes of the different Historians.

Although the First Part of the Catalogue of English, Scottish, Irish, and Welsh Historians contains the most essential portion of them, a second is intended for publication, with an Index to both.

In this undertaking considerable aid has been derived from access to the Libraries of THE MARQUESS OF BUTE, and THE RIGHT HONORABLE THOMAS GRENVILLE, whose Liberality has left the most grateful remembrance on the mind of the compiler.

Somerset Place, Little Chelsea.

Bede.—Hector Boethius.—Buchan.—Camden.—Chronicle of Glassenbury Church.—Fechet. Antiq. Gaul.—“Gildas of Badon, or Bath, was scholar to Iltutus, and a Monk of Bangor Monastery, he was born in the Year of the Battle of Badon, according to Usher, in 520, but according to my calculation, built upon reasons, too long to be inserted, in 511. Gildas wrote a Treatise, entitled, De Excidio Britanniae, of the Destruction of Britain; wherein he boldly censures the British Princes of his time, that is, those who, after the death of Arthur, divided the Country into several petty States. From him chiefly it is that we know what passed among the Britons about the time he wrote. In 564, there is another History, or rather Romance, under the name of Gildas, who is by some called Albanian, and supposed to be different from him I am speaking of. But the learned Stillingfleet asserts they are both the Works of one Author, and that there was no other Gildas but he of Badon—Harp.—Lloyd proves that Columba was ordained by Finean, Bishop of Meath.—Saxon Chronicle.—Spelman. Author of the History of St. Austin's Monastery.—Bede.—Du Pin.—Dr. Gale.—Gregory the 1st. his Letters to Theodoric and others.—Malmsbury.—Nennius.—Pensées de Pascal.—Pitseus, or Pits.—“Winfrid, an English Benedictine Monk, was sent into Germany, where he assumed the name of Boniface. His preaching having met with great success, he was made the first Archbishop of Mentz, and the Pope's Legate for all Germany. It is said he was the Son of a Cartwright, and that the Archbishop of Mentz for that reason bear wheels in their arms. Boniface was barbarously murdered by the Pagans in Friesland, in 754. Pits says he was of Royal Extraction. There is a Collection of his Letters extant, particularly his Letter to Etheldred, King of Mercia, published at Mentz, by Serrarius. Du Pin. Cent. VIII.”—“The Translator Tindal takes notice of all the Historians omitted by Rapin. He begins with Nennius, Abbot of Bangor, supposed to be one of the fifty Monks that escaped, when twelve hundred of their Brethren were slain by Adelfrid, King of Northumberland. He flourished about the Year 620, although it is said in the best copies of his book, that he wrote in 850, in 24 Mervini Regis. There is nothing published of his but his Historia Britonum.”—“Next after him comes Bede, who wrote an Ecclesiastical History of England, from Julius Cæsar's Invasion, to the Year of our Lord 731, at the request of Ceolulph, King of Northumberland, to whom it was dedicated. He was born in 673, in the precincts of Jarrow, near the Mouth of the Tine, in Northumberland. He was bred up from his childhood in the said Monastery, where he lived all his life. He was ordained at nineteen a Deacon, and at thirty a Priest; from which time, till the fifty-ninth of his age, he never ceased writing. His Works are printed in Eight Tomes, besides his Opuscula. He died in 735, aged 62. His body was removed from Jarrow to Durham, and placed in the same coffin with St. Cuthberts—"Cotemporary with Bede lived Stephen Eddi, Heddi, or Eddius, in the Reign of Osric, King of Northumberland; he died in 720. Bede says he was the best singer in the North; on which account he was invited to York, by Wilfrid the Bishop, whose Life he wrote in Latin, in somewhat a better style than could be expected from that Age. This Treatise, which contains several material passages relating to the Ecclesiastical, as well as Civil State, having continued in Manuscript in the Library of Sir John Cotton, and also that of Salisbury, was published by Dr. Gale in his last volume of English Writers." "In the VIIIth Century lived Alcuin, or Albin, a famous Northumbrian. He was bred a Benedictine, and was made Abbot of St. Augustine's Canterbury. He was Disciple to Egbert, Archbishop of York. Being sent Ambassador by Offa to Charles the Great, that Prince got leave for him to stay at his Court, and was taught by him, Logic, Astronomy, and Mathematics. By his persuasion the Emperor founded the University of Paris, and likewise of Pavia. He wrote a great many Books, as Pits says. He died in 804. Malmsb."

State of the Church of England, from the Union of the the Martyr.

Alcuin. — “ Asserius Menevensis was bred a Monk of Menevia or St. David's, whom the King prevailed upon, with much ado, to come to Court, on condition he should stay there Six Months, and at his Abbey Six Months, by turns. He wrote the Life of Alfred to the 45th Year of his Age, i. e. to the Year 893, according to his computation. It was continued to Alfred's death by some later Hand. He shows through the whole a great deal of modesty. He mentions nothing of the Visionary Dialogue between Alfred and St. Cuthbert, which other Historians largely insist on. He is copied by Florence of Worcester and others. This Treatise was first published by Archbishop Parker, in the old Saxon Character. A New Edition was published by Mr. Wise, with a Vindication of the contested Clause about the Antiquity of Oxford. Another Piece has been published by Dr. Gale, under the title of Asserius's Annals. The learned Editor does not question but 'tis the true Offspring of Asserius. Leland calls it the Chronicle of St. Neot's, because he found it in the Monastery. Asserius died Bishop of St. David's in Wales. He must not be confounded with another of the same name, Bishop of Sherburn, who died in 883."—Asserius's Life of King Alfred, published by Camden.—Baronius.—Bede.—Bering Epist. ad Rich.—Book of Winch.—Brompton.—Camden. Next to Asser was Ethelwerd, who wrote in the Reign of Edgar, and lived till 1090, though he did not continue his Chronicle so far. He was (as he himself says) descended of the Blood Royal. His Works consist of four Books, which were published by Sir H. Savil. Bishop Nicolson says the whole is an imperfect Translation of the Saxon Annals. His style is boisterous and obscure, and in some places hardly sense; and therefore but of little use, unless in settling the Reigns and Deaths of some of our Saxon Kings, who lived about this time, concerning which the copies of the Saxon Annals differ. From him to the Conquest we meet with no Historians except Osbern, who has wrote the Lives of St. Dunstan and St. Alphage, which are published in the First Volume of Anglia Sacra; and the Author of a Treatise called Encomium Emmæ, being a Short Account of the Times immediately preceding the Reign of Edward the Confessor.”—Extract of a Saxon Homily.—Gervas, et Act. He was his Secretary in Normandy; went in pilgrimage to Jerusalem; was Monk in the Abbey of Fontevraud; made Abbot of Croyland by William the Conqueror; died in 1109; wrote the History of his Monastery, (Croyland) which is inserted in the Collection of ancient Historians published by Dr. Gale. Bishop Nicolson observes him biassed in the Account he gives of Harold. Ingulph was born at London, in 1030.”—Joffrid, successor of Ingulph, an Account of him.—Knighton.—Lanfranc, Archbishop of Canterbury, his Commentary on St. Paul's Epistles, Ecclesiastical History, which is not extant, and his Treatise against Berengarius, concerning the Sacrament. — “Malachy Archbishop of Armagh, his

BOOK VI.—The principal Writers during the first Norman Reigns not mentioned by Rapin amongst his Persons of Note, are—

“William of Poitiers, or Pictavensis, a Foreigner, and Chaplain to the Conqueror. His Account of the Norman Revolution.”—“Florence, a Monk of Worcester, wrote a Chronicle which was continued by another Monk of his Monastery, epitomized or transcribed Marianus, adding many Collections from the Saxon Chronicles, and other Writers, with much care, &c. died in 1119.”—“Eadmerus, Monk of Canterbury, in his Historia Novorum, &c. published by Mr. Selden, gives the Story of the two Williams and Henry I. 1066 to 1122. Bishop Nicolson states it to be a Work of unquestionable authority. Though he was intimately acquainted with Anselm, he has given a fair account of the mighty dispute about Investitures. Selden says his stile equals Malmsbury.”—“Ordericus Vitalis was Monk of St. Eufroides, in Normandy, where he lived fifty-six years. He wrote an Ecclesiastical History, in 13 Books. Praises his friends and dispraises his enemies, &c.”—“William (Monk, and Library Keeper) of Malmsbury, in his

Account of Gestis Regum Anglorum, in five Books, with an Appendix in two more, which he stiles Historiæ Novellæ, a judicious Collection from the arrival of the Saxons to the Reign of King Stephen, 1142. He is called elegant, learned, and faithful. Usher stiles him the Chief of our Historians.—"The most noble Monument extant, is the old Saxon Chronicle, or Annals. It begins from the Birth of our Saviour, and ends with Stephen's Death, in 1154. They were composed at different times. To 731 they chiefly follow Bede, as to Church affairs. Were not borrowed from Authors, as to their Account of the wars between the Anglo-Saxons and Britons: Asserius's History of Alfred and the Annals correspond in so many things, that the one seems to be a Translation of the other. They have been the foundation of all our Histories, to the Norman Conquest. They were published at Oxford, in 1692, by Dr. Gibson, Bishop of London."

Hib. exp.—Grabius.—Gratian's Decretals, in 1150.—“Grotest wrote several Tracts, translated from the Greek into Latin, the Testament of the Twelve Patriarchs. Dr. Cave assigns it to the latter end of the second Century. Dodwell places it in the first, and some others believe it was composed by some Jew before our Saviour's Death.—Grotest was born at Stodbrooke, in Suffolk, and died in Oct. 8, 1253." M. Paris.—"Alexander Hales, born in Gloucestershire, a great Canonist, and stiled the irrefragable Doctor, was Professor of Divinity in the University of Paris. Among other Works he composed short Notes on the whole Bible, and a Commentary (in four Books) upon the Matter of the Sentences; where, as the learned Du Pin observes, he discovers more skill in Logic and Metaphysics than in the Antiquities of the Church."—Henry of Huntingdon.—Dr. Hody.—"Joannes Sarisburiensis, native, and not Bishop, of Salisbury, as some have affirmed, was one of the ornaments of the Church of England, for learning, politeness, and regularity of life. He was intimate with Adrian IV. who used to complain to him of the weight of the Papal Crown. However, the Bull which this Pope gratified Henry II. with, on account of the conquest of Ireland, seems to show that he was not the most scrupulous. John de Salisbury, who adhered to Thomas Becket, and followed him into France, procured by his means the Bishopric of Chartres. He wrote the Polycraticon, or de Nugis Curialium, a Collection of Letters, and several other inconsiderable Tracts. He died in 1181, or 1182."—Matthew Paris.—M. West.—Bishop Nicolson.—Hist. and Antiq. of Oxford.—Richard Poor, Bishop of Salisbury, his Synodical Constitutions for the use of the Church of Salisbury.—Paul, Hist. of the Inquis. of Venice.—R. de Diceto.—Rapin.—Raymond de Pegnoford, Penitentiary to Gregory IX. his second part of the Canon Law, 1230.—Roger de Hoveden.—Simeon of Durham.—Spelman's Conc.—Statute of Merton.—The Waldenses published the Articles of their Faith, which they dedicated to the French King, who was then persecuting them.—History of the Waldenses and Albigenses.—T. Wikes.—W. Neub. or William of Newbury.

/As to the Historians who lived in these four Reigns, the most noted are—

“Simeon of Durham, a Monk and Precentor of the Church of Durham, in the year 1164, one of the most learned men of his age; he wrote, besides other things, two Books, de Gestis Regum, which are not his master pieces, being only a few indigested Collections, chiefly out of Florence of Worcester, whose very words he frequently copies. He begins where Bede left off, and goes as far as the 29th of Henry I. 1129. He is one of the X. Scriptores; published 1652, at London.”—“Henry, Archdeacon of Huntingdon, flourished about the same time; whose eight Books, concluding with the Reign of King Stephen, were published by Sir Henry Savil. He is a follower of Bede, and has borrowed a great many lies from Geoffrey of Monmouth. He writes confusedly, and reduces the transactions of the Heptarchy to the several Reigns of the West Saxon Kings, but he has not adjusted them as well as he ought to have done.”—“William of Newburgh, so called from a Monastery in Yorkshire, whereof he was member. His History begins at the conquest, and ends at the year 1179: He was a violent persecutor of Geoffrey of Monmouth. His Latin stile is preferred to that of Matt. Paris, and equalled with those of Eadmer and Malsbury, by Dr. Wats.”—“Gervase, a Monk of Canterbury, wrote a Chronicle of the Reigns of Stephen, Henry II. and Richard I. with judgment enough, says Bishop Nicolson. It was published among the X. Scriptores, London, 1552.”—“Roger de Hoveden, Chaplain some time to Henry II. He is charged with borrowing from Simeon of Durham, without acknowledging it; but, as Bishop Nicolson observes, if he did, he has improved his Story, by adding years to many things confusedly related in that Author. There are in his Book many Letters, Speeches, &c. relating to Ecclesiastical Matters.—He was cotemporary with Gervase, 1201. His History was published by Sir Henry Savil, Frankf. 1601.—“Ralph de Diceto, Dean of London. He wrote about the year 1210. His Abbreviationes Chronicorum contain an Abstract of our History down to the conquest; and his Imagines Historiarum gives the Portraiture of some of our Kings more at length, ending with the first years of King John's Reign. Mr. Selden praises this Author and his Works, though Bishop Nicolson says he usually copied verbatim out of other Writers. He is among the X. Scriptores.”—“Walter, a Monk of Coventry, a clear and faithful Writer. He lived in Coventry in 1217. He has some few things of note not to be met with in Geoffrey of Monmouth, Hoveden, and Huntingdon, in his three Books of Chronicles, which are chiefly Collections from the said Authors.”—“Matthew Paris, a Monk of St. Alban's, one of the most renowned Historians of this kingdom. His Historia Major contains the Annals at large of eight of our kings, from William the Conqueror to Henry III. It was first published at London, 1571, and reprinted with additions of various readings, &c. by Dr. Wats, London, 1640, and since in 1685. From the year 1259, wherein Matt. Paris died, to Henry III's death, it was continued by William Rishanger, a Monk of the same fraternity. The whole Work manifests a great deal of candour and exactness in the Author, who tells us so particularly of the brave repulses given by many of our Princes to the usurpations of the Roman See, that it is a wonder such an Heretical History came to survive thus long. A fair copy of this History, supposed to be written by the Author's own hand, is in the King's Library at St. James's. He wrote an Abstract of his History, which Iambarde stiles his Historia Minor, having in it several particulars of note omitted in his Historia Major. It is pretended that Paris had but a small hand in the whole History, having begun only at the year 1135, the rest being done to his hand by one Roger de Windlesore, or Windsor, (or de Wendover Prior de Bealvoir, as in the MS. copy in Cotton's Library) one of his predecessors in the same Monastery."

Book X.—The most noted Historians of the XIVth. Century, were—

“Thomas Wikes. His History begins at the conquest, and ends at the death of Edward I. 1304. He was Canon Regular of Osney, near Oxford, and writes as clearly and fully (especially in some passages relating to the Baron’s wars) as so compendious a Chronicle as his is, would allow him to do. Dr. Gale has published this History in his Hist. Angl. Vol. II.”—“The Author of the Chronicle, which goes under the name of John Brompton, Abbot of Joreval or Jorevaulx, in Yorkshire, lived about this time. The Chronicle begins with the coming of Austin, in 588, and ends with the death of Richard I. 1198. It is plain, from this History’s taking no notice of the foundation of that Monastery, &c. that neither Brompton, nor any Member of that Religious House was Author of this Chronicle, but that it was procured by that Abbot, and by him bestowed on his Monastery. The Author (whoever he be) is very full in his collections for the Saxon times, but takes no notice of the Chronological part in the whole History of the Heptarchy. He gives the Saxon Laws at large, and translates pretty honestly. This Chronicle is published among the Decem Scriptores.”—“Ranulph Higden, Monk of St. Werburgh’s, in Chester, where he died very aged in 1377, was a downright Plagiary. He falls foul of William af Malsbury in many places. He stiles his Work Polyshronicon. What he collected relating to the times of the Britons and Saxons, has been lately published by Dr. Gale, Vol. I. who commends him for preserving many remains out of Ancient Chronicles, now wholly lost or mislaid.”—“Matthew, a Benedictine Monk of Westminster, ended his History at the year 1307, though it was afterwards continued by other hands. He was a choice collector of the flowers of former Historians, from whence he is usually stiled Florilegus. He entirely transcribes Matthew Paris. His most eminent continuator was Adam Merimuth, Canon Regular of St. Paul's, and an eminent Ctwillian, who in his latter days gave himself wholly to the reading and writing English History. He begins his Work at 1302, and reaches to 1380."

As there was a scarcity of persons eminent in other parts of learning in this rude and illiterate Century, so was there likewise of Historians. The most noted were—

“Sir John Froissart, who wrote a general History of the Affairs of France, Spain, &c. but chiefly of England. He was a Frenchman born, but was brought up in his youth in the Court of Edward III. and familiarly conversant in that of Richard II. He wrote in his own tongue, which was then the Court language of England. In the English Edition, published by Sir John Bourchier, at the command of Henry VIII., the mistakes that had crept into the French copies are corrected.—His account of matters seems to be plain and honest, and perhaps none gives a better of the Affairs of Edward III. and Richard II. Rapin has made good use of him.”—“Enguerrand de Monstrelet, and Philip de Comines, may not improperly be called Froissart's Continuator; they give a faithful and complete account of the Affairs of England, as far as they are intermixed with, or have any relation to, those of France, Burgundy, &c.”—“Thomas Walsingham, a Benedictine Monk of St. Albans. His Historia Brevis (or Short History) begins at the conclusion of Henry III's Reign, where Matthew Paris ended his.—The account he gives is well enough; and we are indebted to him for many things not taken notice of by any other Writer of those times. His Epodigma Neustrie (as he calls it) gives an account of Normandy, from the time it came first into the hands of Rollo and his Danes, down to the sixth year of Henry V., wherein the Readers will find many occurrences not elsewhere to be met with. Both these Works by Archbishop Parker, in 1574, and reprinted in Frankfort, in 1603."—" John Harding comes next, a Northern Englishman, and an inveterate enemy to the Scots. He collected whatever might tend to the proof of the ancient vassalage of Scotland to the Crown of England; and hearing of an old record in that Kingdom which put the matter past dispute, he went in disguise, with much ado brought it away, and showed it to Henry V. Henry VI. and Edward IV. To the last of these he dedicated his Two Books of Chronicles in English rhyme. Printed at London, 1543."—" William Caxton was a menial servant for thirty years together to Margaret, Duchess of Burgundy, (Sister to Edward IV.) in Flanders. Finding, as he says, after his return to England, an imperfect History, he continued it in English, under the Latin title of Fructus Temporum. It begins with the first inhabiting of this Island, and ends (the last year of Edward IV.) 1483. Folio, printed 1515."—" John Bese, or Rouse, travelled over the greatest part of England, and having made large collections out of the Libraries where he came, he writ the History of our Kings, which is still extant in MS. in the Cottonian Library. He died in 1491."

Hamilton died, and Trenchard was safe in England.—A Satirical Piece was handed about, (in 1702) wherein, among other things, it was affirmed "That her Majesty designed to give one Duke (Marlborough) all the gold, which the other (the Duke of Ormond) had brought home from Vigo."—State Trials.—Richard Stephens, (Rector of Sutton) his Letter to the Author of the Memorial of the Church of England, reflecting on the Duke of Marlborough, Mr. Secretary Harley, &c. for which he was fined, and sentenced to stand twice in the pillory, and find sureties. The pillory was remitted, but he was brought to a Public-house at Charing Cross, from whence he saw the scaffold.—John Toland's Reasons for addressing his Majesty to invite over into England their Highnesses the Electress Dowager, and the Electoral Prince of Hanover, and for attainting and abjuring the pretended Prince of Wales, and all others pretending any claim, &c. from the late King James and Queen Mary. Resolved by the House of Lords to be scandalous and dangerous.—The case of Toleration recognized.—Dr. Wake's State of the Church and Clergy of England in their Council, Synods, &c. This was the chief of the controversial publications at this time. In his Preface he complains of Dr. A.—Mr. Walsh (called by Dryden the greatest Critic of the Age) his Poem called the Golden Age, in allusion to Virgil's IVth Eclogue. On the word Retrieved, used by the Queen in her Speech. — Edward Ward's Hudibras Redivivus: Or, a burlesque Poem on the Times, reflecting on the Queen and Government, for which he was fined, stood twice in the pillory, and ordered to find security.—The Duke of York's Life, written by the Duchess, a Volume of which, drawn from the Duke's Journal, was shown to Dr. Burnet.

BOOK XXVI.—Sect. II. From the Union to the End of the Reign of Queen Anne.

29. Anne, 1707-14.

An Account of a Dream at Harwich, printed and dispersed as an attack on the character of the Duke of Marlborough.—An Account of the late Invasion as it was opened by Lord Haversham, in the House of Lords, Feb. 25, 1708-9: With some observations that were made in the House of Commons, and true copies of authentic papers, in a Letter from a Gentleman in South Britain, to his Friends in North Britain, 4to. 1709. Supposed to be written by Lord Haversham.—Joseph Addison's Present State of the War, and the necessity of an augmentation considered.—Advice to the October Club;

said to be penned by the Lord Keeper Harcourt, reprinted in Swift's Miscellanies, with a Preface. The names of the Members of this Club are mentioned in Tindal's Continuation Book XXVI. Year 1711.—Dr. Aldrich, Dean of Christ-Church, applied himself to contriving the hieroglyphical figures of the Oxford Almanack, with allusions in favour of the Pretender.—The Allies and the late Ministry defended against France, and the present friends of France, and Postscript to the 4th part of the same.—John Asgill's Argument, proving, that according to the Covenant of Eternal Life, revealed in the Scriptures, man may be translated from hence into that Eternal Life, without passing through death, although the human nature of Christ could not be thus translated, till he had passed through death. Which was ordered to be burnt by the hands of the common hangman, and the Author expelled the House of Commons.—Atterbury, Dodwell, Hickes. And a Censure on Whiston's Book, not confirmed by the Queen.—Author of the Impartial Inquiry into the management of the War in Spain.—Boyer's Annals of Queen Anne.—Brett's Sermon on Priestly Absolution.—Brodrick.—Dr. Brown's Tracts and Sermons. Discountenanced drinking to the glorious memory of King William.—Bishop Burnet. History of his own Time. Preface to his Pastoral Care, reflected upon by one of the Lords, without farther notice.—Dr. Calamy's Letter against the Sacramental Test.—Dr. Calamy's Historical Additions.—Coke.—Christian Cole's Memoirs of Affairs of State.—Collier's Writings.—The conduct of the Purse in Ireland: In a Letter to a Member of the late Oxford Convocation, occasioned by their having conferred the degree of Doctor upon Sir Constantine Phipps, 8vo. London, 1714.—Some Considerations on the Law of Forfeitures for High Treason, occasioned by a clause in a late Act, for making it High Treason to correspond with the Pretender's Sons, or any of their Agents, &c. This Writer opposes Bishop Burnet's observations concerning the Roman Fife, the words of

Cujacius ad L. Jul. Maj. Fiscus erat Populi, nunc Imperatoris; which intimates "That forfeitures was a known punishment during the Republic," &c.—Continuation of Coke.—Daniel De Foe's Appeal to Honour and Justice (an Extract from).—De Foe's (Daniel) Mercator, or Commerce retrieved; being Considerations on the British Trade, particularly as it respects Holland, Hanover, and the Dutch Barrier; the trade to and from France; the trade to Portugal, Spain, and the West Indies, and the fisheries of Newfoundland and Nova Scotia: With other matters and advantages accruing to Great Britain by the Treaties of Peace and Commerce lately concluded at Utrecht.—Daniel De Foe had a pardon from the Queen under the Great Seal, for writing the three following Pamphlets:—1. Reasons against the Succession of the House of Hanover, with an inquiry, how far the Abdication of King James, supposing it to be legal, ought to affect the person of the Pretender.—2. And what if the Pretender should come? Or, some considerations of the advantages and real consequences of the Pretender's possessing the Crown of Great Britain.—3. An Answer to the Question that nobody thinks of: viz. What if the Queen should die?—Father Daniel's Account of the Battles of Almanza, and Oudenard.—Mr. Darby and Mr. Hurt prosecuted on account of a translation of a memorable passage in Tacitus, about Cecilius Bassus's deceiving the Emperor Nero, with the promise of an immense but imaginary treasure, inserted in the Observator.—M. Du Mont on the Battle of Blaregnies, or Malplaquet.—The Examiner.—A Fable of the Widow and her Cat. A Libel against the Duke of Marlborough. Published by either Prior or Swift. This with others were published in single sheets.—Faults on both Sides. Written by Mr. Clements.—The Marquis de Feuquiere's Memoirs, in which will be found his Observations on the Battles of Almanza, and Oudernard, and the errors in the defence of Lisle.—Bishop Fleetwood's Preface to his Sermons, ordered to be burnt. Observe his Sermons on the Death of

Queen Mary, 1694. On the Death of the Duke of Gloucester, 1700, and on the Queen's Accession.—Count de Forbin's Memoirs.—Dr. Freind's Account of the Earl of Peterborough's Conduct in Spain.—The Earl of Galway's Narrative.—Dr. Hale's Tract against a General Naturalization.—Hannibal not at our Gates ; Or, an inquiry into the grounds of our present fears of Popery and the Pretender. The Author supposed to be one of the principal Writers of the Examiner.—Dr. Hare's Thanksgiving Sermon before the House of Commons, Feb. 17, 1708, mentioning a Conspiracy on the Continent. And his Thanksgiving Sermon stating that the French looked upon Lisle as impregnable.—Dr. Hare's Political Tracts, published in 1711-12.—Dr. Hare's four Letters to a Tory Member.—Lord Treasurer Harley's Brief Account of Public Affairs laid before her Majesty, in June, 1714.—The Hereditary Right of the Crown asserted: The History of the Succession since the Conquest cleared, and the true English Constitution vindicated from the misrepresentations of Dr. Higden's View and Defence, &c. By Hilkuah Bedford (whose real name was Harbin.) This Author was judged to have been assisted in this Book by several Nonjurors. The Author's sentence was partly superseded. Lord Chief Justice Wills's "Present Constitution and the Protestant Succession vindicated," in answer to the same. "Treason Unmasked," another answer.—History of Europe.—Benjamin Hoadly's Sermon before the Lord Mayor, Epist. to the Romans, C. xiii. v. 1, 2. Books wrote against him. Overthrew the conceit of Sir R. Filmer, (at this time espoused by Mr. Lesley) that Government was derived by primogeniture from the first Patriarchs. Dr. Sacheverel reflected with great virulence upon him, Bishop Burnet, and others. Vote of thanks by the House of Commons to Mr. Hoadly for his services to the Church and State, particularly for two Publications, one entitled, "Some Considerations humbly offered to the Lord Bishop of Exeter, occasioned by his Sermon preached before her Majesty, March 8, 1708."

The other, "An humble Reply to the Lord Bishop of Exeter's Answer, in which the Considerations lately offered to his Lordship are vindicated, and an apology is added for defending the foundation of the present Government."—Janigon on the Constitution of the Low Countries.—A new Journey to Paris: Together with some secret transactions between the French King and an English Gentleman, published under the fictitious name of M. Du Baudrier, supposed by some to be written by Daniel De Foe, and by others ascribed to Jonathan Swift, who, with Mr. Prior, Dr. Freind, and Mr. Oldisworth, and some others were employed in writing a Weekly Paper called the Examiner.—Lamberti.—Lediard's Life of the Duke of Marlborough.—Charles Lesley's Rehearsal and Letter to the Pretender.—Letter to the seven Lords appointed to examine Gregg.—Letter from a supposed Whig Gentleman in the Country to a Friend in Town, questioning the genuineness of the Elector of Hanover's Memorial.—Letter about the debts of the Navy.—M. de Limiers, his Life of Lewis XIV.—Lockhart's Memoirs.—The London Gazette of Sept. 20, and 23, 1708, omitted mention of General Webb, in the Battle of Wynyndale, who, in consequence, returned to England and related that affair to Queen Anne.—The Earl of Manchester's Letter to the Earl of Sunderland, from Vienna, May 14, 1707, in Cole's Memoirs of Affairs of State, p. 447. And other Letters.—Manuscript Account of the War in Spain, from 1706 to 1712, by a Chaplain in the Army.—Elias Marion, John Daude's, and Nicholas Facio's Prophetical Warnings, &c. for which they stood on the scaffold, with a paper denoting their offence, and were fined.—The Duchess of Marlborough's Account of her conduct. And quotation from Montaigne.—Henry and David Martin, and Charles King's British Merchant, and Preface to it. In opposition to Daniel De Foe's Mercator.—Dr. Maynwaring's Letters to a Friend in North Britain, which contain remarks on Dr. Sacheverel's Speech.—The Merchant a-la-mode, with several other Satirical Ballads, &c. in French and English, published against the Duke d'Aumont the French Ambassador, and the Queen's Ministers.—Memoirs of the Chevalier de St. George, resolved by the Commons to be a seditious and treasonable libel.—Military History.—La Vie de Philippe d'Orleans.—Conduct of the Duke of Ormond.—The Post Boy, Jan. 8, 1711-12, reflects on the Countess of Soissons, Prince Eugene's Mother, and compliments the Duke of Marlborough.—The Post Boy, Nov. 22, 1711, charges the Kit-Cat Club with conspiracy.—Printed Protestation of the Pretender, April 12, 1712, supposed to have been drawn up a year before.—Pr. H. L. and Pr. H. C. (Proceedings of the Houses of Lords and Commons).—Rapin (the French Continuation of).—Reasons why a certain great General had not the thanks of either of the Houses of Parliament, &c.—Robinson (Bishop of London) his Letter from Leipsic to the Earl of Manchester, 1707.—The Romance, a Pamphlet so called, wherein General Stanhope is called Census, respecting the affair of Brihuega.—Dr. Sacheverel's Sermon at the expiration of his sentence, at St. Saviour's, St. Luke xxiii. 34. "Father forgive them, for they know not what they do." And Sermon before the House of Commons on the Restoration Day.—Dr. Sacheverel's Tracts and Sermons. Character of a Low Churchman. His Sermons, with the Decree of the University of Oxford, passed in their Convocation, July 21, 1683, were both burnt. The Commons also upon a complaint of a Book entitled Collections of Passages referred to him, in his Answer to the Articles of Impeachment, ordered the same to be burnt. On the other hand, the Doctor's friends complained to the House of a Book entitled "The Rights of the Christian Church," &c. (by Dr. Matthew Tindal) and a Defence of it, in two parts, with "A Letter from a Country Attorney to a Country Parson, concerning the Rights of the Church;" and Le Clerc's judgment of that Book in his Bibliothèque choisie. All which were condemned to the flames; as was also a Treatise of the word Person, by John Clendon of the Inner Temple.—Sallust (a Speech of Caius Memmius translated from) printed and dispersed as an attack on the character of the Duke of Marlborough.—The Sighs of Europe, published in Holland, by Count Zinzendorf's direction.—R. Steele's Crisis. And "The Public Spirit of the Whigs set forth in their general encouragement of the Author of the Crisis," in answer to it. This was attributed to Dr. Swift and Lord Bolingbroke. It was complained of as a Libel in the House of Lords.—Mr. Steele expelled the House for writing "The Englishman," and "The Crisis."—Dr. Swift's Conduct of the Allies, and of the late Ministry, 5th Edition.—Dr. Swift in particular published a piece entitled, "Some Remarks on the Barrier Treaty, between her Majesty and the States-General, to which are added the said Barrier Treaty with two separate articles; part of the counter project; the sentiments of Prince Eugene and Count Zinzendorf upon the same Treaty; and a representation of the English Merchants at Bruges." He attacked likewise the same Treaty in his "Conduct of the Allies and of the late Ministry;" but his remarks were confuted in the second part of "Dr. Hare's Allies and the late Ministry defended against France, and the present friends of France." On the same side was published "The Dutch Barrier ours: Or, the interest of England and Holland inseparable." But the most considerable treatise upon this subject was, "The Barrier Treaty vindicated." Supposed to have been written by Lord Townshend, Stephen Poyntz, Dr. S. Clarke, and Dr. Hare, in 1712. Dr. Swift's Charge in the Examiner, concerning Gregg, answered in the Medley.—John Toland's Art of Restoring; or, the piety and probity of General Monk in bringing about the last Restoration, evinced from his own Authentic Letters: With a just account of Sir Roger, who runs the parallel as far as he can: In a letter to a Minister of State at the Court of Vienna. And "The Reasons and Necessity of the Duke of Cambridge's coming and residing in Great Britain."—Voltaire's Life of Charles XII. King of Sweden. SMOLLETT'S CONTINUATION OF HUME.

George II. 1727-60.

BOOK II. CHAP. IV. The Craftsman, for wit, humour, and solid reasoning, rose to high reputation in England. Some of the best Writers in the Opposition, including Lord Bolingbroke and Mr. P. made it the Vehicle for their animadversions upon the Ministry, who on their side employed wretched Scribblers to defend their conduct.—Pamphlets (two political) caused a duel between Lord Hervey and Mr. P. in which the latter had a narrow escape.

BOOK II. CHAP. V. The Golden Rump, a Manuscript Farce, presented to the Stage for exhibition, was afterwards produced in the House of Commons, where the Minister descanted upon the insolence, malice, immorality, and the seditious calumny which had been propagated in Theatrical Pieces, all which caused the Bill for subjecting the productions of Dramatic Writers to the Lord Chamberlain's inspection, and Lord Chesterfield's excellent Speech thereupon.

BOOK II. CHAP. VI. Manners, a Satire, by Mr. Whitehead, complained of in the House of Lords, and R. Dodsley, the Publisher, committed to the Usher of the Black-Rod.—Horace misquoted by Sir Robert Walpole. "Nil conscire sibi nulli pâllescere culpæ." This occurred upon Mr. Sandys' telling him that he should bring a charge against him in the House. He was corrected by Mr. Pulteney; but insisted upon his being right, and laid a wager on the justness of his quotation.

BOOK III. CHAP. I. Constitutional Queries, earnestly recommended to the serious consideration of every true

Briton. This printed Paper, a single sheet, was circulated with so much precaution, that although the Duke of Marlborough, in the Lords, moved against it, and both Houses voted it a most false, malicious, scandalous, infamous, and seditious libel, ordering it to be burnt by the hangman, which was done; none of the persons concerned were discovered.

BOOK III. CHAP. II. The Case of the Hon. Alex. Murray, in an Appeal to the People of Great Britain; more particularly the Inhabitants of the City and Liberty of Westminster. Concerning the Election, 1751. The House of Commons voted it a Libel, yet upon being tried before a Jury, they acquitted the Defendant.—The King of Prussia's exposition of the motives which influenced his conduct, regarding Neutral Vessels, &c.—Elizabeth Canning, Pamphlets and Pasquinades concerning.

BOOK III. CHAP. X. Dr. Shebbeare's Letters to the People of England, on the present situation and conduct of National Affairs. In seven Letters. For the sixth he was prosecuted, tried, found guilty, and sentenced to stand in the pillory, pay a fine, imprisonment for three years, and to find security for future good behaviour.—At the end of this Chapter, is a Sketch of the comparative merits of different Authors who lived in the Reign of George II.

Adolphus's general and conclusive Remarks.

SUMMARY OF SUCCESSION.

THE NORMAN DYNASTY. WILLIAM I. King of England, and Duke of Normandy, called the Conqueror, natural son of Robert, the sixth Duke of Normandy, by Arlotta, (or Arlot,) a skinner's daughter of Falais. Claimed the Crown of England, under pretence of a grant from Edward the Confessor, and a promise from Harold, who usurped the throne; Harold being slain, Edgar Etheling, the undoubted heir to the crown, transferred his right to the Duke, and with the Lords and Commons requesting him to accept the crown, and swearing allegiance to him; this Prince's right to the crown became indisputable. Crowned Dec. 25, 1066. Reign twenty years, ten months, twenty-six days. Died at Rouen, Sep. 19, 1087.

THE NORMAN DYNASTY. ROBERT, Duke of Normandy, named Courtois, from his courteous behaviour, Courtchoyse, from his short thighs, or Courthose, from his short breeches, among the children of William the Conqueror and Queen Maud, he was their eldest son, and he confederated against his father in a battle at the Castle of Gerbury, where the latter was unhorsed, wounded, and conveyed away. Robert contested the title, but came to terms with Henry. He died in Cardiff Castle, a Prisoner, Feb. 10, 1134.

THE NORMAN DYNASTY. WILLIAM II. King of England and Duke of Normandy, surnamed Rufus, in Latin, and Rous, in French, from his red hair. He was the third son of William the Conqueror, and the third man of his father's progeny, who came to an untimely end. He claimed the crown from his father's will, died without issue, and was succeeded by his youngest brother Henry I. Born in Normandy, in the twenty-first year of his father's dukedom. Crowned Sep. 26, 1087. Reign twelve years, eleven months, nine days. Killed, hunting in the New Forest, by an arrow, Aug. 2, 1100.

THE NORMAN DYNASTY. HENRY I. King of England, and Duke of Normandy, surnamed Beau-Clerk, or Fine Scholar, was the fourth and youngest son of William the Conqueror. Born at Selby, Yorkshire, anno 1070, third of his father's reign. Crowned Aug. 6, 1100. Reign thirty-five years, three months, twenty-nine days. Died Dec. 2, 1135.

THE NORMAN DYNASTY. MAUD, the Empress, daughter of King Henry I. and Lady of the English. Married to Henry IV. of Germany, and afterwards Geoffrey Earl of Anjou, son and heir of Foulk, King of Jerusalem, and of Eremburga, daughter of Helias Earl of Mans. His first wife was called Plantagenet, (id est, Planta Genestæ, or Broom Plonte,) according to Robert of Glocester, because he wore in his cap a sprig of broom. Born in the eighth year of the reign of Henry I. Died Sep. 10, 1167, aged sixty-four, at Rouen.

THE NORMAN DYNASTY. STEPHEN, King of England, Earl of Bologne, and Montaign, son of Adela, fourth sister of Henry I. resided in his uncle Henry's court, took advantage of his cousin the Empress Maud's absence, who was the only daughter of King Henry, and usurped the throne. This Empress came over, and after several battles, the contending parties came to terms, which may be said to have given him a legal title, although Stephen left a son behind him. Crowned Dec. 26, 1135. Reign eighteen years, ten months, twenty-four days. Died Oct. 25, 1154.

THE NORMAN DYNASTY. ROBERT, Consul, or Earl of Glocester, surnamed (de Cadomo) of Caen, natural son of Henry I. and Nesta, daughter of Rhees ap Tewdor, Prince of South Wales. The most valiant captain of his age. He built the Castles of Bristol and Cardiff, in Wales. William of Malmesbury dedicated his Historia Novella to him. Died 1147.

THE NORMAN DYNASTY. WILLIAM, Consul, or Earl of Gloucester, and Lord Glamorgan, was eldest son and heir of Robert, Consul of Gloucester, (Comes and Consul were the same title at that period,) whom he succeeded in that earldom; and was also Lord of Glamorgan, in the right of his mother, Mabell, daughter and heiress of Robert Fitz-Hamon, who won the said lordship from Justin ap Gurgan, Lord of Glamorgan, in the time of King William Rufus, and made his abode in the castle of Cardiff, where he kept his court monthly, and used therein Jura Regalia, having his twelve knights to attend him the first day, they having several lodgings given them and their heirs for ever, within that castle. He also built the Abbey of Keynsham. Died 1183.

THE NORMAN DYNASTY. REGINALD, Earl of Cornwall, surnamed de Dunstanville, third natural child of King Henry I. and Sibill, daughter of Sir Robert Corbet, of Alcester, in the county of Warwick. Died at Chertsey, 1175 or 1176.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. HENRY II. King of England, Duke of Normandy, and Aquitaine, and Earl of Anjou, Fitz-Empress, so called from his mother, or Court-Mantle, because he was the first that brought the fashion of short cloaks out of Anjou. He was the eldest son and heir of Maud, the empress, only child living of King Henry I. by another Maud, his wife, daughter of Malcolm, the third king of Scots, and Margaret his wife, daughter of Edward, son of King Edmund, surnamed Ironside, in whom the blood of the Saxon Kings was restored. Born at Mentz, 1133. Crowned Dec. 19, 1153. Reign thirty-four years, eight months, eleven days. Died July 7, 1189.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. RICHARD I. King of England, Duke of Normandy, and Aquitaine, and Earl of Anjou, surnamed Coeur de Lion, the third (but eldest living) son of King Henry II. and Queen Eleanor. Born in the King's Manor House, Oxford, Sep. , 1157. Crowned Sep. 3, 1189. Reign about nine years, nine months. Died April 6, 1199.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. JOHN, King of England, Lord of Ireland, Duke of Normandy, and Aquitaine, and Earl of Anjou, surnamed Sans-Terre or Lack-Land; large provisions having been made for his brethren, but not for him. He was also stiled Johannes Comes Moritonie, according to some of his Charters. John, the youngest son of Henry II. and Queen Eleanor, made himself master of his brother Richard's treasure, took advantage of his nephew Arthur's minority and absence, mounted the throne, not pretending to any other title than the election of the people. Prince Arthur was universally acknowledged to be the son of Geoffrey, his eldest brother, and as such succeeded to several provinces in France. John took his nephew Arthur prisoner, who died in prison. Upon the death of Prince Arthur, King John's reign became unquestionable. John was born at the King's Manor House, at Oxford, Jan. 31, 1166. Crowned the 6th of the kalends of June, 1199. Reign seventeen years, six months, thirteen days. Died at Newark, Oct. 19, 1216.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. HENRY III. King of England, Lord of Ireland, Duke of Normandy, and Aquitaine, and Earl of Anjou, surnamed of Winchester. In the distracted state of this kingdom, this Prince Henry, the eldest son of King John and Queen Isabel of Engolesme, his third wife, was born at Winchester, Oct. 1, 1206. Crowned Oct. 28, 1216. Again crowned 1219. Reign fifty-six years, twenty-seven days. Died Nov. 16, 1272, at Westminster.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. RICHARD, King of the Romans, and of Almaine, and Earl of Poitiers and Cornwal. King John had issue only two sons, Henry, who succeeded him in his kingdom, &c. by the name of King Henry III. and this Richard, his second son, both by Isabel, his third wife. In a letter to Simon de Montfort and Gilbert de Clare, he subscribed himself Richard, by the Grace of God, King of the Romans, ever Augustus. A prince, skilful, prudent, and valiant. He farmed the mint, and the jews, of the king, by which he got so much money, as to spend four hundred marks a day. Born 1209. Died 1271, at Berkhampstead.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. EDMOND, of Almaine, Earl of Cornwall, was the fifth son of Richard Earl of Cornwall, (but eldest by his second wife Queen Sanchia,) and after the death of his half brothers, John, Henry, Richard, and Nicholas, sons of the said father by the first venter, came to succeed him in his Earldom of Cornwall.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. EDMOND, Earl of Lancaster, Leicester, Derby, and Campaigne, Lord of Monmouth, and Steward of England, surnamed Crouch-Back, from deformity, others assert from his wearing the Cross, or Crouch upon his back, or one who vowed voyages to Jerusalem, which he did. He was second son of King Henry III. Born 1245. Died 1296.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. THOMAS, Earl of Lancaster, Leicester, Derby, and Lincoln, and Steward of England, eldest son and heir of the above Edmond. He sided with the barons against King Edward I. in hatred of Pierres Gaveston, for whose death he had a pardon. He was beheaded at Pontefract, (An. 15, Edw. II.)

and Steward of England, was the younger brother and heir of Thomas de Lancaster. Died at Leicester, 1345.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. HENRY, Duke of Lancaster, Earl of Derby, Lincoln, and Leicester, Steward of England, and Lord of Bragerack and Beaufort, surnamed Grismond, or Tort-col. This Henry, surnamed Grismond, from the place of his birth being Grismond Castle, in the County of Monmouth, or Castrum de Grosso Monte, and also Tort-col, (or with the Wry Neck,) was the only son of Henry Earl of Lancaster, second son of Edmond, also Earl of Lancaster, the second son of King Henry III. Died of the Plague, in the thirty-fifth year of the reign of Edward III.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. WILLIAM, Earl of Salisbury and Rosmar, (a natural son of King Henry II.) surnamed Longespee, from the long sword which he usually wore. His mother was Rosamond, the beautiful daughter of Walter Lord Clifford. Died 1226.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. WILLIAM LONGESPEE, second of the name, Earl of Salisbury, eldest son and heir of William Longespee the first, and Ela, his wife. He was slain fighting against the Infidels in the Holy Land, 1249.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. WILLIAM LONGESPEE, third of that name, only son and heir to William Longespee, second of the name.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. EDWARD I. King of England, Lord of Ireland, and Duke of Aquitaine, surnamed Long-Shanks, from his tallness, was eldest son of Henry III. and Queen Eleanor of Provence. Born at Westminster, June 17, 1239. Crowned August 19, 1274. Reign thirty-four years, seven months, twenty-one days. Died at Borough, upon the sands, July 17, 1307.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. EDWARD II. King of England, Lord of Ireland, and Duke of Aquitaine, surnamed of Carnarvon. After the deaths of John, Henry, and Alphonso, the three eldest sons of King Edward I. and Queen Elianor of Castile, his first wife, this Edward, their fourth son, succeeded him. Born at Carnarvon, April 25, 1284. Crowned Feb. 23, 1307. Reign nineteen years, six months, eighteen days. Murdered in Berkley Castle, by Gournay, and Maltravers, at the instigation of Adam de Orleton, Bishop of Hereford, Jan. 25, 1327.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. EDWARD III. King of England and France, and Lord of Ireland, surnamed of Windsor. This most renowned king was eldest son of King Edward II. and of Queen Isabel his wife, daughter of Philip IV. surnamed The Fair, King of France, whose sons Lewis, Philip, and Charles, all kings of France, successively dying without male issue, this prince challenged the Crown of France, as the next heir-male thereunto, in the right of his said mother. Born in Windsor Castle, Nov. 13, 1312. Crowned Feb. 1, 1327. Reign fifty years, four months, twenty-seven days. Died at Sheen, (now Richmond) June 21, 1377.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. EDWARD, Prince of Aquitaine and Wales, Duke of Cornwall, and Earl of Chester, surnamed of Woodstock, was eldest son of Edward III. and Queen Philippa. This brave prince never lost a battle, or besieged a city without gaining it. Some historians call him The Black Prince. Born at Woodstock, June 15, 1330, (Walsingham states 1329.) Died at Westminster, July 8, 1376.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. RICHARD II. King of England and France, and Lord of Ireland, surnamed of Bourdeaux, second son of the above Prince Edward, and Joan Countess of Kent. Born at Bourdeaux, 1366. Crowned July 16, 1377. Reign twenty-two years, three months, eight days. Deposed and murdered in Pontefract Castle, Feb. 14, 1399.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. THOMAS, Earl of Norfolk, and Suffolk, and Marshal of England, surnamed of Brotherton. This prince was fifth son of King Edward I. (but eldest son by his second wife Margaret, daughter of Philip the Hardy, King of France.) Born at Brotherton, a little village in Yorkshire, June 1, 1300. Died 1338.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. MARGARET MARSHAL, Duchess of Norfolk, and Lady Segrave. This lady was eldest daughter and co-heir to Thomas of Brotherton, Earl of Norfolk, and after the death of her niece Joan, Countess of Suffolk, had his whole inheritance, and was Countess of Norfolk. At the coronation of Richard II. she exhibited her petition for the Marshalship of England. Died March 24, 1399.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. THOMAS MOWBRAY, Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshal of England, and Earl of Nottingham, was the second son of John Lord Mowbray of Axholm, and Elizabeth his wife, daughter and heir to John Lord Segrave, by Margaret his wife, and at length heir to Thomas of Brotherton, fifth son of King Edward I. He was banished for an intended combat with the Duke of Hereford, and died with grief at Venice, 1400, in consequence thereof.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. EDMOND, Earl of Kent, surnamed of Woodstock, sixth son of Edward I. and Margaret his second wife, eldest daughter of Philip III. surnamed The Hardy. Born at Woodstock, Aug. 5, 1301. Arrested for high treason, he was, by the malice of Queen Isabel, beheaded at Winchester; after standing five hours on the scaffold, expecting the deadly stroke, which no one would give him, except a base wretch of the Marshalsea, who being sent for performed it.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. EDMOND PLANTAGENET, Earl of Kent, eldest son and heir to Edmond of Woodstock, Earl of Kent, and Margaret his wife, sister and heir to Thomas Lord Wake of Lydel. Died at the King's Ward, anno 5, Edward III.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. JOHN PLANTAGE-

NET, Earl of Kent, second son of Edmond of Woodstock, succeeded his brother Edmond (who died without issue) in the earldom of Kent.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. JOAN PLANTAGENET, Princess of Wales, and Countess of Kent, only daughter of Edmond of Woodstock, Earl of Kent, sixth and youngest son of Edward I. sister to Edmond, and sister and heir to John Earl of Kent. Prince Edward was her third husband, and Richard II. their son. When young she was called The Fair Maid of Kent. She died of grief in Wallingford Castle, July 8, 1385, from being denied pardon for her son, and his half brother John Holand.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. LIONEL, Duke of Clarence, Earl of Ulster, and Lord of Conaught and Trim, surnamed Antwerp, third son of Edward III. and Queen Philippa. Born at Antwerp, Nov. 29, 1338. Died from intemperance at Longueville, Oct. 17, 1368.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. PHILIPPA of Clarence, Countess of March and Ulster, and Lady of Wigmore and Clare, &c. daughter of Lionel Duke of Clarence, and the Duchess Elizabeth his wife. Philippa of Clarence was grand daughter of Edward III. and Queen Philippa. Born Aug. 16, 1355.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. ROGER MORTIMER, Earl of March and Ulster, Lieutenant of Ireland, and Lord of Wigmore, Clare, Trim, and Conaught. King Richard II. in 1387, nominated this Roger Mortimer for his successor in the Kingdom of England, being the eldest son of Philippa, the only child of Lionel Duke of Clarence, third son of King Edward III. for William of Hatfield (the second son of King Edward III.) dying young and issueless, and King Richard II. (the only child of Edward Prince of Wales, eldest son of King Edward III.) deceasing also without issue, this Roger's heirs ought to have preceded the house of Lancaster to the crown, being descended from John of Gaunt, a fourth son of that King.

This Roger Mortimer was slain by O'Brin and the Irish of Leinster, at Kenlis, in the twenty-second year of King Richard II.

PLANTAGENETS UNDIVIDED. THOMAS, Duke of Gloucester, Earl of Buckingham, Essex, and Northampton, and Constable of England, surnamed of Woodstock, the sixth and youngest son of Edward III. and Queen Philippa. Born at Woodstock, Jan. 7, 1355. Smothered in a feather bed at Pleshy Castle, Essex, Sep. 8, 1397.

LANCASTRIANS. JOHN, King of Castile and Leon, Duke of Aquitaine and Lancaster, Earl of Richmond, Derby, Lincoln, and Leicester, and Steward of England, surnamed of Gaunt, fourth son of Edward III. and Queen Philippa. Born at Gaunt, in Flanders, in 1340. Died in Ely Palace, Holborn, 1399, anno 22, R. 2.

LANCASTRIANS. HENRY IV. King of England and France, and Lord of Ireland, surnamed of Bullingbrook, in Lincolnshire. Henry IV. the first monarch of the House of Lancaster, son of John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, the fourth son of Edward III. King Richard had banished him and seized his vast estate; Henry, with an inconsiderable army, landed in Yorkshire, without claiming the crown, but his Dukedom. The people joined him from all parts. King Richard being detained in Ireland by contrary winds, upon his arrival, finding his forces disbanded, his strong places surrendered, and London in the hands of Henry, in despair submitted. Duke Henry summoned a Parliament in King Richard's name, in which the latter was deposed, and miserably forced to sign an instrument of resignation. When Henry, rising from his seat, laid claim to the vacant throne, as lineally descended from Edward III. which admitted, was only by a younger branch. For besides King Richard then living, there was the Earl of March before him, descended from Lionel Duke of Clarence, the third son of Edward III. and himself descended from John of Gaunt, the fourth son. A year had scarcely passed before a deep conspiracy of the principal nobility was formed for restoring King Richard; and the Earl of Huntingdon, in a speech, declared “That King Henry, by violently invading, and fraudulently mounting the throne of his sole sovereign, was both a tyrant, and usurper, and such a one as it was lawful for any man, by any means, to destroy, without respect to his good or evil qualifications, since it was not lawful for any man, under his pretences, to assume sovereign power. Therefore, the examples of the best Commonwealths did not permit such an action, but also honored the actors with statues and titles, and rewarded them with the wealth and riches of the suppressed tyrant. See Echard’s History of England, Cent. XIV. Chap. 4. Born about the year 1366. Crowned Oct. 13, 1399. Reign thirteen years, five months, twenty days. Died of apoplexy at Westminster, March 20, 1412.

LANCASTRIANS. HENRY V. King of England and France, and Lord of Ireland, surnamed of Monmouth. He was eldest son of Henry of Bullingbrook, then a subject, and Earl of Derby, Leicester, and Lincoln, afterwards Duke of Hereford, in the right of his wife Mary, the second daughter, and co-heir to Humphrey de Bohun, Earl of Hereford, &c. and Constable of England; then Duke of Lancaster, by the death of his Father, John of Gaunt, fourth son of King Edward III. and lastly (Richard II. being deposed), made Sovereign of England. He left his large acquisitions to his son Henry VI. Born at Monmouth, in the Marches of South Wales, 1388, anno 2, Rich. 2. Crowned April 9, 1413. Reign nine years, five months, fourteen days. Died at Bois de Vincennes, Aug. 31, (St. Marthe saith the 29th,) 1422.

LANCASTRIANS. HENRY VI. King of England and France, and Lord of Ireland, surnamed of Windsor, only child of King Henry V. and Katherine of Valois, youngest daughter of Charles VI. of France. Born at Windsor, upon St. Nicholas' Day, 1421. Crowned Nov. 6, 1429. Reign thirty-eight years, six months, four days. Murdered in the Tower, by Richard Duke of Gloucester, King Edward's brother, May 21, 1472.

LANCASTRIANS. THOMAS, Duke of Clarence, and Earl of Albemarle, President of the King's Council, and Constable of his Host, Lieutenant General of his Armies in France, Normandy, &c. second son of King Henry IV. slain at the Battle of Baugy, 1420.

LANCASTRIANS. JOHN, Regent of the Kingdom of France, Duke of Bedford, Anjou, and Alençon, Earl of Mayenne, Richmond, and Kendal, Constable of England, &c. third son of King Henry IV. He was justly termed one of the best generals that ever blossomed out of the royal stem of Plantagenet.

LANCASTRIANS. HUMPHREY, Duke of Gloucester, Earl of Henault, Holland, Zeland, and Pembroke, Lord of Friesland, Great Chamberlain of England, Protector and Defender of the said Kingdom and Church of England. He was fourth son of Henry IV. Upon his marriage with his first wife Jaqueline, or Jacoba, daughter and heir to William Duke of Bavaria. In addition to his other titles, he used son, brother, and uncle to kings. This Humphrey for his virtuous endowments, surnamed The Good, and for his justice, Father of his Country; after he had, under Henry VI. his nephew, governed the kingdom twenty-five years; with great commendations, so that neither good men had cause to complain of, nor bad men to find fault with his regency, was, by the envy of Margaret of Anjou, his nephew's queen, brought to his end in St. Saviour's Hospital, in St. Edmondsbury, 1446, when, at a Parliament there held, he was arrested for high treason, by John Lord Beaumont, High Constable of England, where certain of the king's household being appointed to guard him, he was, not many days after, strangled to death, without trial, and without issue by either of his wives, (some say he died of sorrow, from being denied a trial), at which time his body was shewed to the Lords and Commons as if he had died by disease. But whatever was the cause of it, certainly his death was the stroke of an evil angel sent to punish England, and to make way for the practices of Richard Duke of York, who immediately after Duke Humphrey's death, (that grand prop of the Red Rose Tree), began to set on foot his royal title, to the destruction of the whole Lancastrian family, though he himself failed in the attempt, yet he went so far as to be declared heir apparent to the crown, which was attained, with much bloodshed, by his son King Edward IV.

BEAUFORTS. JOHN BEAUFORT, Earl of Somerset, Chamberlain of England, Captain of Calais, and Knight of the Garter, natural son of John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster and Catherine Roet, the widow of Sir Otes Swinford, Knight. Died April 21, 1410.

BEAUFORTS. JOHN BEAUFORT, Duke and Earl of Somerset, &c. and Knight of the Garter. Henry Beaufort, Earl of Somerset, (the eldest son of John Earl of Somerset), dying without issue, this John, his brother, succeeded him in the said Earldom, and was, by King Henry V. chosen Knight of the Garter. He assisted Thomas Duke of Clarence, at the Battle of Baugy, or Bauge, in France, where, outnumbered by the French and Scots, commanded by the Duke of Orleans, Clarence was slain, and this John Earl of Somerset, with the Earl of Huntingdon and others, taken prisoners.

BEAUFORTS. EDMOND BEAUFORT, Duke of Somerset, Marquis of Dorset, Earl of Somerset and Dorset, Lord of Chirk and Chirkland, and Knight of the Garter. This Edmond was third son of John Beaufort, Earl of Somerset. He had several times the Regency of France, and Government of Normandy, was recalled by King Henry VI. and slain in the first Battle of St. Albans, against Richard Duke of York, in 1455.

BEAUFORTS. HENRY BEAUFORT, Duke of Somerset, Marquis Dorset, Earl of Somerset and Dorset, Lord of Chirk or Chirkland, and Lieutenant of Calais. This Prince Henry, eldest son of Edmond Beaufort, Duke of Somerset, among other services performed in France, is remembered for his desperate assault of the Castle of St. Anjou, in Mayenne, in which he put to the sword three hundred Scots, and hanged all the French found there. Being, by King Henry VI. recalled into England, to supply the command of his slain father, Duke Edmond, and to withstand the growing fortune of Richard Duke of York; he was general to Queen Margaret, and had the leading of her main battle at Wakefield, where Richard, fighting upon unequal terms, lost not only the day, but his life also; when Edward Earl of March, the Duke of York's eldest son, revenged his father's death upon the Lancastrians, at the Battle of Mortimer's Cross, in the Marches of Wales. This Henry, Duke of Somerset, was also commander in chief for Henry VI. at the great and bloody Fight of Towton, where, after the loss of thirty-six thousand men on both sides, the said Edward was again victorious, and Duke Henry forced to save his life by flight, who, not long after, finding the Red Rose Tree almost wholly withered, submitted himself to the mercy of the conqueror, (on whose head this victory had placed the royal diadem, by the name of Edward IV.) for which defection he is hardly censured by historians. But the Lancastrian Rose budding again, by hope of assistance from Scotland, unwilling to outlive the prosperity of that house, of which himself was a branch, he espoused their quarrel, and in a third battle, at Exham, was made prisoner by Jolm Nevil, Marquis Montacute, and there beheaded upon the 3rd of April, 1463.

BEAUFORTS. EDMOND BEAUFORT, Duke of Somerset, Marquis Dorset, and Earl of Somerset and Dorset, &c. He was second son of Edmond Duke of Somerset, slain at the Battle of St. Albans, and the brother and heir to Henry Duke of Somerset, taken prisoner at Exham, and there beheaded; who followed the Lancastrian interest, did also partake with them in their Tragical Fortunes, for, being made a prisoner (with Prince Edward, son of King Henry VI.) at the fatal Battle of Tewksbury, the last dispute betwixt the Red and White Rose for England's sovereignty, where he commanded Queen Margaret's vanguard, (and with his own hand slew the Lord Wenlock for cowardice,) he was taken prisoner by King Edward IV. anno 1471, and after two days lost his head. He left his four sisters his heirs, and was buried in the Abbey of Tewksbury, to which monastery and convent King Henry VII. granted the parochial Church of Towton, to pray for the soul of this Edmond, his brother John, and others, that there lost their lives in the quarrel of the House of Lancaster.

SOMERSETS. CHARLES SOMERSET, Earl of Worcester, Lord Herbert of Gower, Chepstow, and Raglan, Lord Chamberlain, and Knight of the Garter. Henry Beaufort, eldest son of Edmond Duke of Somerset, third son of John Beaufort Earl of Somerset, eldest son of John of Gaunt Duke of Lancaster, and Katherine Swinford, (afterwards his third wife,) had issue by Joan Hill, this Charles, whom King Henry VII. his near kinsman, (for that king's mother and this Charles' father, were brother's children), created Banneret, and elected Knight of the most noble order of the Garter, then made him Vice Chamberlain, and soon after Chamberlain of his Household. Died April 15, 1526.

SOMERSETS. HENRY SOMERSET, Earl of Worcester, and Lord Herbert of Gower, Chepstow, and Raglan. This Henry, eldest son of Charles Earl of Worcester, (and only son by Elizabeth, his first wife, daughter and heir to William Herbert Earl of Huntingdon,) in the twelfth of Henry VIII. (his father then living) was one of the challengers upon that famous interview, betwixt Ardres and Guesnes, of the said king and Francis I. where several feats of arms were performed on horse and on foot, during the space of forty days, betwixt the English and French; and afterwards, anno 15, H. 8, accompanied the Duke of Suffolk into France, by whom many places of strength were won. In which expedition this Henry merited so well from the said Duke, that he conferred on him the honour of knighthood. Died Nov. 26, 1549.

SOMERSETS. WILLIAM SOMERSET, Earl of Worcester, Lord Herbert of Gower, Chepstow, and Raglan, and Knight of the Garter, was the eldest son of Henry Earl of Worcester and Elizabeth Brown, his wife. Died Feb. 21, 1588.

SOMERSETS. EDWARD SOMERSET, Earl of Worcester, Lord Herbert of Raglan, Chepstow, and Gower, Lord Privy Seal, Master of the Horse to Queen Elizabeth and King James, Privy Councillor to Queen Elizabeth, King James, and King Charles, and Knight of the Garter, was only son of William Earl of Worcester, and Elizabeth North, his wife. Died at Worcester House, in the Strand, March 3, 1627.

SOMERSETS. HENRY SOMERSET, Marquis and Earl of Worcester, Lord Herbert of Raglan, Chepstow, and Gower. Was the second son of Edward Earl of Worcester, and Elizabeth Hastings, his wife. He surrendered his life into the custody of the Parliament's Black Rod, in Covent Garden, Dec. 1646.

SOMERSETS. EDWARD SOMERSET, Marquis and Earl of Worcester, Lord Herbert of Raglan, Chepstow, and Gower, and Lord Lieutenant of South Wales. Was the eldest son and heir to Henry Marquis of Worcester, and Anne Russell, his wife. Died April 3, 1667.

SOMERSETS. HENRY SOMERSET, Duke of Beaufort, Marquis and Earl of Worcester, Lord Herbert of Raglan, Chepstow, and Gower, Lord President of Wales and Knight of the Garter. Was the only son of Edward Marquis of Worcester and Elizabeth Dormer, his first wife. This Henry Duke of Beaufort died at Badminton, Jan. 21, 1699.

SOMERSETS. CHARLES SOMERSET, Marquis of Worcester, eldest son of Henry Duke of Beaufort, and Mary Capel. This noble lord was a person of great parts, and learning, and spent much of his time in the study of antiquities, and other curiosities of the English nation, more especially in that part relating to the genealogies and arms of the nobility and gentry. His death was caused by leaping out of his coach to avoid danger, from the unruliness of the horses running down a hill, by which his thigh bone was broken, and he died in three days afterwards, July 13, 1698.

PLANTAGENETS DIVIDED, OR, THE ROYAL HOUSE OF YORK. EDMOND PLANTAGENET, Duke of York, Earl of Cambridge, Lord of Tindal, and Knight of the Garter, surnamed of Langley. This prince was fifth son of King Edward III. and Queen Philippa, his only wife, daughter of William Earl of Henault. He was born at Langley, near St. Albans, anno 1341, where he died Aug. 1, 1402.

YORKISTS. EDWARD PLANTAGENET, Duke of York, Earl of Cambridge, Rutland, and Cork, Lord of Tindal, Constable of England, and Knight of the Garter, Eldest son of Edmond of Langley, Duke of York, and Isabel, his first wife, second daughter and co-heir to Peter, King of Castile. He was killed at the Battle of Agincourt, Oct. 25, 1415.

YORKISTS. RICHARD OF YORK, Earl of Cambridge, surnamed of Coningsburgh. Second son of Edmond of Langley, Duke of York, fifth son of Edward III. and Isabel, his wife, second daughter and co-heir to Peter, King of Castile and Leon, surnamed from the place of his birth, so called Coningsburgh, in Yorkshire. He was beheaded.

YORKISTS. RICHARD, Duke of York, Earl of Cambridge, Ulster, March, and Rutland, Lord of Wigmore and Clare, Lieutenant of the Kingdom of France, and Dukedom of Normandy, and Knight of the Garter. He was the only son of Richard of Coningsburgh, Earl of Cambridge, and Anne Mortimer, his wife, sister and heir to Edmond, Earl of March. By his father's side derived from Edmond, Duke of York, fifth son of King Edward III. and by his mother's, from Lionel, Duke of Clarence, third son of that king; who, notwithstanding his said father died for treason against King Henry V. was, by King Henry VI. his son, in a parliament held at Leicester, in the fourth year of his reign, restored to the dignities of Duke of York, Earl of Cambridge and Rutland, and Lord of Tindal, which honours had fallen to him after the death of Edward, Duke of York, his uncle, slain at the Battle of Agincourt, without issue; a great error in King Henry's councils to aggrandize him, who, by the acquisition of the Earldoms of March and Ulster, and the Lordships of Wigmore, Clare, Trim, and Conaught, falling to him as next heir, after the death of his uncle Edmond Mortimer, Earl of March, who deceased also issueless, in the third year of Henry VI. 1424, had not only these honours heaped upon him, but was also thereby furnished with a title to the crown, in the right of Anne Mortimer, his mother, sister to the said earl. Wanting power to put that title in dispute, he married Cecilie Nevil, the youngest daughter of Ralph Earl of Westmorland, and John Beaufort, his second wife, a daughter of John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, by which match the Duke of York became related to most of the great nobility of the kingdom.

YORKISTS. EDWARD IV. King of England and France, and Lord of Ireland. Henry, the eldest son of Richard Duke of York, deceasing in his infancy, this Edward, his second son by Cecilie his wife, the youngest daughter of Ralph Nevil, the first Earl of Westmorland, was, in the lifetime of his said father, as his eldest son surviving, called Earl of March. Edward's title appearing thus indisputable, and his youth and other amiable qualifications rendering him the darling of the people, he ascended the throne with the consent both of lords and commons, and the universal acclamations of the multitude. Born at Rouen, April 29, 1441. Crowned June 28, 1461. Reign twenty-two years, one month, five days. Died at Westminster, April 9, 1483.

YORKISTS. EDWARD V. and RICHARD, Duke of York, both infants; the one eleven, and the other about nine years old. Their uncle Richard Duke of Gloucester, (called Crook-backed Richard,) cruelly caused their deaths, and usurped the throne.

YORKISTS. RICHARD III. King of England and France, and Lord of Ireland. Richard was the eighth and youngest son of Richard Duke of York, and Cecilie Nevil, his wife. He alledged that his two nephews, Edward and Richard, were illegitimate, and that himself only was the undoubted heir of the House of York. He called a parliament, wherein the Earl of Richmond and his adherents, were declared enemies to the kingdom, and their estates confiscated. Dreading a match between the Earl of Richmond and the Lady Elizabeth, he made away with his Queen, and the intended match with Elizabeth was prevented by the earl landing in Wales. Richard III. was born at Fotheringay Castle, Northamptonshire, his father's mansion house. Crowned July 7, 1483. Reign two years, two months. Slain in the Battle of Bosworth Field, Aug. 22, 1485.

YORKISTS. GEORGE OF YORK, Duke of Clarence, Earl of Warwick and Salisbury, Lord of Richmond, and Great Chamberlain of England, &c. was the sixth son of Richard Plantagenet, Duke of York and Dutchess Ann, his wife. He was drowned in a butt of Malmsey, Feb 18, 1477.

YORKISTS. MARGARET OF CLARENCE, Countess of Salisbury. Margaret Plantagenet, daughter of George Duke of Clarence, born at Farley Castle, near Bath, in Somersetshire, became the wife of Sir Richard Pole, knight. Sentence of death was passed upon her for High Treason, without arraignment or trial, and she was beheaded in the Tower, May 27, 1541, dying with great resolution at the age of seventy years.

YORKISTS. ARTHUR PLANTAGENET, Viscount Lisle, Lieutenant of Calais, and Knight of the Garter. He was natural son of King Edward IV. by the Lady Elizabeth Lucy, though Vincent states by Jane Shore. King Henry VIII. committed him to the Tower, but afterwards, convinced of his innocence, sent him a ring, with such comfortable hope, that his heart was overcharged therewith, which caused his death, 3 Martii, an. 33, H. 8.

TUDORS. HENRY VII. King of England and France, and Lord of Ireland, surnamed Tudor. This wise and noble Prince Henry, son of Edmond of Hadham, Earl of Richmond, eldest son of Owen Tudor, and Queen Catherine, widow of Henry V. His mother was Margaret, daughter of the first Duke of Somerset, and grandchild of John of Gaunt, fourth son of Edward III. so that he had but slight pretence to hereditary succession, except by marriage with the Lady Elizabeth, eldest daughter of King Edward IV. whereby the Houses of York and Lancaster became united, and an end put to a contest about the succession, in which thirteen battles were fought, and an hundred thousand men killed in the space of thirty years, among whom were eighty princes of the blood. Henry VII. was born in Pembroke Castle, about the year 1455. Crowned Oct. 30, 1485. Reign twenty-three years, eight months. Died at Richmond, April 21, 1509, where, secreted by him, was found 1,800,000*l.*

TUDORS. HENRY VIII. King of England, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. second son of Henry VII. and Queen Elizabeth of York, his wife. Born at Greenwich, June 28, 1491. Crowned June 24, 1509. Reign thirty-seven years, nine months, five days. Died at Westminster, Jan 28, 1546.

TUDORS. EDWARD VI. King of England, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, and in Earth, of the Church of England and Ireland supreme head. Edward was also Duke of Cornwall, and youngest son of King Henry VIII. and his third wife, the Lady Jane Seymour. Born at Hampton Court, Oct. 12, 1537. Crowned Feb. 25, 1547. Reign six years, five months, nine days. Died at Greenwich, July 6, 1553.

TUDORS. MARY, Queen of England, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. eldest daughter of King Henry VIII. and Queen Catherine. Married to Philip Prince of Spain, son of the Emperor Charles V. Born at Greenwich, Feb. 8, 1515. Crowned Nov. 30, 1553. Reign five years, four months, eleven days. Died Nov. 17, 1558.

TUDORS. ELIZABETH, Queen of England, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. second daughter of King Henry VIII. and his second wife Anne Bullen. Born at Greenwich, Sep. 7, 1533. Crowned Jan. 15, 1558. Reign forty-four years, four months, seven days. Died at Richmond Palace, March 24, 1602.

and Queen Elizabeth, daughter of King Edward IV. was also sister of Henry VIII. and married at the age of fourteen to James IV. King of Scotland. Margaret was born Nov. 29, 1489.

TUDORS. MARY, Queen of Scots, and Dowager of France, was sole daughter and heir of James V. King of Scots, (and of Mary of Lorrain, daughter of Claude Duke of Guise,) son of James IV. King of Scots, and Margaret, eldest daughter of Henry VII. King of England. Henry Stuart, Lord Darnley, her second husband, and this Mary, were father and mother to James VI. of Scots, and first Monarch of Great Britain. Born Dec. 8, 1542. Beheaded at Fotheringay Castle, Feb. 8, 1587.

TUDORS. MARY, Queen Dowager of France, and Duchess of Suffolk, third daughter of King Henry VII. married to Lewis XII. of France. Born 1498. Died at the Manor of Westhorp, Suffolk, June 25, 1533.

STUARTS. JAMES I. King of England, Scotland, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. surnamed Stuart. Son of Henry Stuart, Lord Darnley, and Mary Queen of Scots, only daughter and heir to James V. son of James IV. King of Scots, and Margaret, eldest daughter of King Henry VII. James I. was born in Edinburgh Castle, June 19, 1566. Crowned July 25, 1603, (with Anne of Denmark.) Reign twenty-two years, three days. Died at Theobalds, March 27, 1625.

STUARTS. CHARLES I. King of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. surnamed The Martyr. Third son by birth to King James, and Queen Anne of Denmark. Born at Dumferling, Nov. 19, 1600. Crowned Feb. 2, 1625. Reign twenty-two years, eleven months, one day. Beheaded Jan. 30, 1648.

STUARTS. CHARLES II. King of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. Second son by birth of King Charles I. and Queen Henrietta Maria of France, his wife, youngest daughter of King Henry IV. surnamed The Great. Born at St. James', May 29, 1630. Crowned April 23, 1661. Reign twenty-four years, eight months, eight days. Died Feb. 4, 1685.

STUARTS. JAMES II. King of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. Was third son by birth of King Charles I. and Queen Henrietta Maria. Born at St. James', Oct. 14, 1633. Crowned April 23, 1685. Reign four years, seven days. Died at St. Germain's, Sep. 4, 1701.

STUARTS. WILLIAM III. and MARY II. King and Queen of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, Defenders of the Faith, &c. King William was the posthumous son and only child of William II. Prince of Orange, who died of the small pox. This William II. married Mary Stuart, eldest daughter of King Charles I. Queen Mary II. was eldest daughter of King James II. and Anne Hyde. Such was the state of parties at the time of the Revolution, and such were the political divisions, when King William was advanced to the throne, that from the difficulties, obstructions, plots, and conspiracies which he encountered during his reign, he was more than once resolved to quit it, and retire to Holland. This intention at one period (1689) King William communicated to the Marquis of Carmarthen, the Earl of Shrewsbury, and some other noblemen, when a very animated discussion occurred, in which he relinquished his intention. See Tindal's Continuation to Rapin. William III. born 1650. Crowned with Mary II. April 11, 1689. He reigned thirteen years, twenty-three days. Died March 8, 1702, at Kensington.

STUARTS. ANNE, Queen of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. second daughter of James II. and Ann Hyde. Born Feb. 6, 1664, at St. James'. Crowned April 3, 1702. Reign twelve years, four months, twenty-four days. Died Aug. 1, 1714, at Kensington.

HOUSE OF HANOVER. SOPHIA, Princess-Palatine of the Rhine, Electoress-Dowager of Brunswick-Lunenburgh, and nominated successor to the Crown of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, and the Dominions thereunto belonging, after the demise of her majesty Queen Anne, and in default of issue. This princess was fifth and youngest daughter of Frederick V. Elector Palatine of the Rhine, and King of Bohemia, and of Elizabeth of Great Britain, eldest daughter of King James I. Born at the Hague, Oct. 13, 1630. Died at Hernhausen, May 28, 1714.

HOUSE OF HANOVER. GEORGE I. George Lewis, Prince Electoral of Brunswick-Lunenburgh, (commonly called Elector of Hanover,) was eldest son and heir to Ernest August, Elector of Brunswick, and Sophia Princess-Palatine of the Rhine, before mentioned. Born May 28, 1660. Crowned Oct. 20, 1714. Reign twelve years, ten months, ten days. Died at Osnaburg, June 11, 1727.

HOUSE OF HANOVER. GEORGE II. eldest son of George I. and the Princess Sophia Dorothea, (his wife and first cousin). Was born Oct. 30, 1683. Crowned Oct. 11, 1727. Reign thirty-three years, four months, fourteen days. Died at Kensington.

HOUSE OF HANOVER. FREDERIC LEWIS, Prince of Wales, son of George II. and Caroline Dorothea Wilhelmina, daughter of the Margrave of Brandenburg Anspach. Born Jan. 20, 1706. Married April 1736, Augusta daughter of Frederick Duke of Saxe Gotha. Died March 20, 1750.
